

Delvemade marketing team means business

Profile: David R McCann

Delvemade's new Business Development Manager, David McCann, is committed to growing the business. He brings a wealth of experience from a career spent in sales and marketing niche and volume industrial products. David plans to create strategies and develop markets geographically.

He aims to strengthen brand awareness and improve visitor experience to www.delvemade.co.uk.

He believes business should be fun as well as profitable. You'll need to be fit (and fast) to keep up with David outside of work. When he's not running in forests or on moorlands he can be found cycling around the leafy roads of Cheshire and the Peak District.

Profile: David Darbyshire-Clarke

With a BA(Hons) in Business Management and Marketing under his arm, David Darbyshire Clarke (DD-C) joins Delvemade as Marketing and Communications Coordinator.

He has extensive retail, education and construction experience, marketing products and services for projects from residential to multi-phase commercial and industrial developments. DD-C will use his traditional and digital marketing skills to help further develop brand and product awareness. His pastimes are eclectic, an avid Wigan Warriors fan, he enjoys travel, theme parks and outdoor pursuits, cooking and eating plus occasional bungee jumping - but not necessarily in that order.